FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: February 10th, 2009

Ann Arbor, MI - Following request from City Council at its December 21st meeting, the Ann Arbor Downtown Development Authority (DDA) is undertaking a comprehensive public parking plan to be completed for review April 19th, 2009. Throughout development of this plan, the DDA seeks to gather your input through a robust public process that includes surveys and public dialogues. The following survey kick starts the outreach process and helps the DDA planning team understand more about your values and priorities in order to inform this plan. The survey will be available from February 10th through February 19th, 2009.

The DDA greatly appreciates the time spent completing the survey and as a thank you, they are providing two survey respondents with the chance to win a $25 gift certificate. For more information and updates continue to check your local news source and the DDA webpage www.a2dda.org.

The mission of the Ann Arbor Downtown Development Authority (DDA) is to undertake public improvements that have the greatest impact in strengthening the downtown area and attracting new private investments. Formed in 1982, the DDA has had a substantial impact on the creation of a vibrant downtown, participating in hundreds of projects from historic preservation and affordable housing to streetscape and sustainable transportation. The DDA currently operates the public parking system in line with its mission and with no use of tax dollars.
